

Two Unhurt in Automobile Crash

Vancouver Couple Escape Injury as Car Tips in Ditch While Trying to Avoid Hitting Other Cars

Attempting to avoid a crash with another car on the main highway two miles north of Bassano at 8:30 o'clock Saturday night, J. W. Smith, of Vancouver, turned his own car over in the ditch along the road. He and Mrs. Smith escaped injury but their car was badly damaged. The other car did not stop at the scene of the accident.

The body of Smith's car, a 1927 Chevrolet coupe, was twisted, the top smashed, fenders crumpled, and door glass broken.

Mr. Smith is with the advertising department of the News-Herald and he and his wife were on their way to Saskatchewan when their holiday was rudely interrupted. They left Wednesday afternoon for Vancouver after their car was repaired in Roy Smith's garage.

According to J. W. Smith's story of the accident, he was driving south on the gravelled highway into Bassano. At the T. H. Hunter farm he saw a car approaching from the east. Mr. Smith began to slow down as he saw the other car was going to come on the highway. The other car reached the highway and stopped, blocking the road and, according to Mr. Smith, he was unable to pass and was forced to stop. By this time Smith was travelling at a slow rate of speed which accounted for the escape of escape of injury when their car rolled over.

The driver of the other car, Smith said, did not stop to investigate, but drove on toward Bassano. Smith did not get the license number of the other car but he could plainly see it was a coupe, he said.

The accident was reported to the R.C.M.P., who are investigating.

Gleichen Drops Out, Leaving Only Brooks and Bassano in Tournament—Silver Cup Held by Bassano Club Three Years

Racquet stars of the Brooks and Bassano tennis clubs will meet for the fourth time to battle for the Bow Valley cup in the annual Labor Day tournament on the local courts. The Gleichen club, a competitor the first three years, has withdrawn from the 1934 tournament.

Bassano won the cup in 1931, the year the tournament was inaugurated, and since then has successfully defended the silver trophy every year. Last September Bassano won by the narrow margin of two points, winning a total of 25 matches against 23 won by Brooks. Gleichen was a weak third with only eight victories.

Because of the sports day to be held in Brooks Monday, Sept. 3, the tournament will be run off on Sunday, Sept. 2; play will begin at 10 a.m., with draws every hour and an hour off at noon.

Present plans of the tournament managers is to have 25 matches, as follows: eight men's singles, four men's doubles, four ladies' singles, two ladies' doubles, four mixed doubles, with three consolation matches in the plan of play.

Harvesters had a good run of favorable weather until today's drop in temperature. Wheat cut with the binder is mostly grading No. 2 Northern, with some grading No. 3.

Combined wheat is of poor quality. The best is now grading No. 4 and a considerable quantity is no better than No. 5.

BALANCING A BUDGET

Budgets must be balanced or business and towns and countries go broke.

Bassano's budget is not being balanced, and until it is the town's financial position will grow from bad to worse.

Bassano has been going "in the hole" for two years. Expenditures have exceeded receipts, and the debt has run into thousands of dollars a year.

To make up the shortage the town has been drawing on reserve money set aside for the purpose of maintaining the waterworks system which is now 20 years old and destined for its last days before the $250,000 debt against it is paid off by 1937.

There are two ways of balancing a budget: by reducing expenses and by increasing revenue.

Increasing revenue by a tax boost is not practicable for Bassano. Many ratepayers are finding it extremely difficult to pay taxes at the present rate. Some are not paying at all. A tax increase would only make taxes more difficult to collect and would result in more property owners abandoning their land.

The alternative is to reduce expenditures.

Can it be done? We think so, and a number of prominent local business men agree with us on this point.

Cutting expenses means eliminating all public works and services except those that are absolutely necessary, the reduction of salaries, and the pruning of expense accounts where possible.

Salary reduction meets with strong opposition and results in certain unpleasantness. It is a subject that must be approached with tact and prudence by both employee and employer. Expenditures for salaries in Bassano's school, public works, and administration are out of line with other financial aspects of the town's affairs.

A saving of more than $2,000 a year could be made by reducing salaries without causing hardship on those employed. Other savings are possible.

Such economy measures would not, perhaps, result in sufficient saving to offset the annual deficit, but it would be a long step toward balancing the budget and putting the town's financial affairs on sounder basis.

Bassano has been going "in the red" using up its reserve funds, and losing things would turn for the better. It's time to meet conditions with more practical measures.

MORALS AND SWEEPS
A Puritan-minded majority in the Canadian House of Commons has decreed that gambling is a sweepstakes is unlawful, that it is not conducive to the making of good citizens, and that the people must be protected from its evil influences.

And what do we find?
Hardly a day passes when we are not approached by a ticket salesman who offers to sell us a ticket on a sweep in Vancouver, in Toronto, in Winnipeg, in Ireland, or in any one of a score of places.

The government's refusal to legalise sweeps is not having an ounce of influence on the morals of the people. The public is "sweep-minded," thousands of persons in every province are buying tickets, and the sweeps are doing a thriving business.

Many of the sweeps are conducted in foreign countries and large sums of Canadian money are leaving Canada never to return.

The member of parliament must know this, and knowing it, it is difficult to understand why they do not legalize sweeps in Canada and thus curtail the outflow of Canadian money for foreign sweeps.

Such a move would divert a considerable sum of money to the Canadian treasury, an addition that would be most welcome by the minister of finance.

Hospitals and other institutions would derive immense benefit from the legalization of sweeps as they have in other countries, and the greater social service they could give would far outweigh any hypothetical moral uplift the banning of sweeps is supposed to give.

SELLING CANADA
The job of the newly created Canadian Travel Bureau is to sell Canada to foreign tourists, and the first step in this task is an advertising campaign in American daily newspapers. The advertisement is to appear soon in a long list of papers with a total circulation of six million, and it is estimated Canada's message will reach thirty million readers in this manner.

The message is designed to appeal to hunters, fishermen, sight-seers, and tourists generally who are planning a fall vacation. It bridle lets forth the scenic beauties of Canada and the splendid hunting and fishing to be had.

Organized late this summer, the Travel Bureau admit it is rather late in getting under way, but it estimates it has plans for an extensive advertising campaign early next year in American newspapers and also a "See Canada First" campaign in Canadian newspapers.

It is significant that the Travel Bureau has selected the newspapers as the best advertising medium. The newspaper has a power and a prestige unequalled by any other advertising medium, and the Travel Bureau's choice is founded on the wisdom of experience.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Grease stains may be removed from clothes most easily with either benzine or pure turpentine.

Like the hickory pan with parchment paper when you are baking fish and you'll find the pan will be much easier to wash.

When you're scrambling eggs, add a few bread crumbs to the mixing. It changes the flavor a bit and it makes the eggs go much further.

Separating eggs is a simple matter when you break them into a small funnel held over a cup or glass. The whites go through, of course, leaving the unbroken yolks at the top.

Avoid chipping and rickling debt from chains in the kitchen by using a thick Turkish towel folded in two.

To clean coral beads dip them in a solution of one teaspoonful of borax in a pint of warm water. When they are clean rinse with tepid, clean water.

VERY LATEST

Designed in Sizes: 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 years. Size 4 requires 2 1/2 yards of 35 inch material for both dress and panties. 2 yards of 1 1/2 inch bias binding is required.

FOR WEER MODERNS

Pattern 8234—Wee moderns have a great deal to say about what they will wear these days, and they invariably choose a clever outfit like the one pictured with simple and pretty dress and even more simple panties to match. The panties are held in place by cross stitching on the shoulders and the full sleeves are gathered into the armholes and trimmed with blue binding which also trims the neck.

The little panties are cut in one piece and held in place by an elastic inserted in the hem at upper edge. Small daughter will love this set and look exceedingly sweet in it.

"What are you doing, Dorothy?" "I am writing a letter to Lillie Smith."

"But you don't know how to write, dear."

"That's all right, mummy, Lillie can't read."

BABY SLEEP

Babies cry because crying is one of the few ways they have of expressing their feelings, or of securing the attention they need. Just how often or for how long a baby will cry will depend upon a number of things.

The new-born baby sleeps most of the time, waking only to be fed and then going off to sleep again. As the child grows older, he sleeps less, and if he is going to sleep throughout the night, then he must be trained, from birth, in regular habits of feeding, sleeping, elimination and bathing. It is much more simple to establish the proper habits from the first than to have to correct bad habits later on.

The baby will not sleep regularly unless he has other daily habits which are also regular. "Feed by the clock" is good advice which might be extended to bed-time, bathing and elimination. It is helpful to the child's development to have these habits established early so that they become second nature to him, requiring no attention, and leaving him free to develop other activities.

The baby who is upset when feeding time comes is apt to swallow a great deal of air with his food; this may mean that he will not secure sufficient food, and the result is a restless sleep after each a feeding. Holding the child over the shoulder and gently patting the back helps to expel the air from the stomach.

Keeping him warm enough, but not too warm, and turning him so as to give him a change of position, encourage sound sleep. The baby has not the same ability as the adult to adjust the body temperature, hence the importance of providing him with just the right amount of clothing and covers, depending upon the temperature. The baby who is over-dressed is irritable and restless because he is uncomfortable.

Colic gives rise to severe pain; it is due to an irritation of the bowel from some cause. The baby with colic usually lies with his legs drawn up, and the pain gives rise to piercing cries. Bowed movement gives relief, and the baby will be willing to take some food.

A cold in the head not only interferes with breathing, but, in the case of the baby, it interferes with his sucking, so it is to be expected that his sleep will be restless if he has a cold. Fever is another cause of poor sleep. As previously stated, the control of body temperature is not well established in the baby, and so babies run high temperatures very readily.

"Know what I think?"

I'VE tried this gas and that; this oil and the other; and in the end, Bill, I've come to the conclusion that for my money I'll pick Texaco every time. This gas of theirs is just about the liveliest thing I ever put into the tank. Since I've been using their oil I haven't spent a cent for motor repairs and my car runs just as sweet and smooth as you could ask for."
